Zine #1

RAW. REAL. EROTIC

By: Madame Kinkster

Sometimes I wonder if I'm too much... but maybe I'm just too much for you...

Does my water drown your fire?

Does the weight of my depth pull you beneath the surface, where breathing feels like surrender?

I am as deep as the ocean—unexplored, untamed.

I am as passionate and powerful as the asteroid that shattered the earth, wiping out what once was... only to spark something entirely new. That kind of force?

It's not for the faint of heart.

That's why I don't let just anyone see me.

Because when I do... when the right soul meets my depths... it becomes something wild, magical —beautiful and destructive all at once.

And I'm not even sure I'm ready for what that kind of collision would mean.

But what if... there is one?

The one who pulls that out of me, who ignites and surrenders in equal measure.

Would I still feel the urge to run, just to find balance in solitude?

Maybe.

But the real question is...

Would you find me? And would you bring me back home?
