

35

E 33rd St

The FIRST

MURDER

of the

YEAR

d Ave

Oi

This is the video.

Graphic Media

Labeled by @moderation.bsky.app.

Daniel Suitor @danielsuitor

Someone who claims to have

- car was blocking ice
- they told them to move
- "something happened"
- ICE shot into the car as it was
- messenger got out of the car

Sherrilyn Ifill @sifill.bsky.social ke it viral.

sam @sam_d_1995

it's probably worth noting that for all of the right-wing narrative around Minneapolis being unsafe, there has only been one homicide so far this year.

I saw posts telling folks how to turn off autorun.

10:22 PM · Jan 7, 2026
Ke...

Others advised that watching traumatic videos wasn't necessary praxis.

A Black man named Keith Porter was shot on New Year's Eve.

Marimar Martinez was shot five times by an ICE officer in Chicago who went on to brag about leaving seven holes in her body.

By Wednesday evening,

This is not new but it is expanding.

a Wikipedia page existed.

Elad Nehorai @eladn.bsky.social

It was tagged as low-importance.

Your reminder that what happened to Renee Nicole Good is something that happens regularly in America. This is not new, but it is an expanded version of militarized people targeting Black people in particular.

I usually avoid snuff videos on general principles.

from ICE detention to murder with impunity. I mean, we're doing it. Now it's

By the time I went looking, a couple of hours later,

7:21 PM · Jan 7, 2026

they had been removed from Bluesky.

His name was Keith Porter.

on New Year's Eve.

ICE killed a Black man

I saw "say her name" posts.

Black women pointed out the inappropriateness of applying "say her name" to a white woman.

These posts did not include her name.

Later, she was identified as Renee Nicole Good.

Some people opined that this killing would be a turning point. They forgot about Heather Heyer

(also a white woman, a "good" victim) and the long history of violent retribution visited upon white people who dare

to challenge

By Thursday, she became Renee Good.

white supremacy.

Christopher Wiggins

Early posts all mentioned her wife, at the scene, and her anguished quotes following the murder.

my wife. I don't know what to do."

"We stopped to videotape, and they shot her in the head," the distraught woman sobs.

On Thursday, the wife became a "partner."

It's not a dirty word; plenty of people use it by preference.

But it doesn't automatically imply permanence and legal rights.

distraught woman says ICE killed her wife in video after deadly Minneapolis shooting

"They killed my wife," the distraught woman says, adding, "They shot her in the head."

Himalayan salt lamp

By Friday, her name was in the news and her face was in federally-released footage of her wife being gunned down.

biology textbook pictures; they

The child was six.

There were stuffed animals in the glove compartment.

my nostrils,

Only one parent was going to be there after school.

The other parent was never going to be there again.

Pretty soon, the child was referred to as an orphan.

Tommy LaFirma
De Tu Reinado

& salt & ink that rubbed off

We learned that the child's father,

the dead woman's husband, was dead.

A white military mom and widow:
a compelling demographic for a victim.

Some people had a difficult time wrapping their heads around the existence of bisexuals.

on my palms.

The maternal grandmother (a grieving mother) was also quoted.

The paternal grandfather was quoted as believing the child was four or five.

That the child was all alone.

That he, a grandparent in a different state, needed to take care of the child.

I began to worry about the child's custody status.

By Thursday, we learned that there was a surviving ex-husband.

He wanted to preserve his anonymity, and that of his two children.

I can't blame the man.

"Mother of three" became an easy tagline.

It also has the virtue of being true, if an incomplete picture of the whole of a woman's life.

I saw posts urging people to avoid spreading an incorrect name

Minnesota Star Tribune
@startribune.com

The agent, Jonathan Ross, was dragged by a vehicle and injured during a June operation in the Twin Cities, court records show.

Officers refused to allow anyone to provide medical aid to the woman who had been shot.

or AI-generated photos of the ICE agent.

Headlines informed us that the killer was once dragged by a car.

the killer

Excellent, damning analysis of the video of the killing of Ms Good, from the NYT, including a quick debunking of the "evidence" the Post showed other Times reporters last night.

The subtext, practically text, was that he obviously had a genuine reason to fear for his safety.

By then, for belaboring this... any mainstream source... phone, and was... according to

I had watched videos of the shooting.

Even if I had not watched it,

I would not have believed federal accounts.

Some time later, the name

Jonathan Ross surfaced.

Video: Videos Contradict Trump Administration Account of ICE Shooting
An analysis of footage from three camera angles shows that the motorist was driving away from — not toward — a federal officer when he opened fire.

We learned that she was an award-winning poet.

The "award-winning" part is important.

How else do we know that a poet is worthy of the title, and not some pretender;

that it is permissible to identify her as a poet in her obituaries, that her scribbles should not be dismissed as some fanciful hobby?

She was Renée Nicole Macklin then.

We are all so many people over the course of our lives.

She will never have the chance to be anyone else.

She will earn no more titles for her obituaries.

and what dies there.

"Fucking bitch" was the last title bestowed upon her.

life is merely

d where those two m

and how often and how

E 33rd St

E 33rd St

Collage elements:

Photographs: ABC News; Franceola Armstrong's Keith Porter Jr. GoFundMe; Google Maps; Ben Hovland/MPR, CPR; Old Dominion English Department, The Denver Post; Voters For Equality Facebook page. Bluesky:

@bellingcat.com; @broadwaybabyto.bsky.social;

@cwnewser.bsky.social; @danielsuitor.com;

@eladn.bsky.social; @petersagal.bsky.social;

@sifill.bsky.social; @startribune.com;

@whstancil.bksy.social. X: @sam_d_1995.

Extracts from "On Learning to Dissect Fetal Pigs" by Renée Nicole Macklin (poets.org).

5th Ave S

© 2026 Sheryl Vernon sherylvernon.neocities.org

Scope Creep Press
SCP26010004

E 34th St