ISSUE #019

WELCOME BACK to another edition of My Anarcho Pop Zine! They said it couldn't be done - but I've done it, I've released an issue the same month as another issue. As this is June, this is the Pride edition of My Anarcho Pop Zine - if it's no longer Pride when you read it, remember that every month is pride month and you should act accordingly!

We have a cornucopia of delights for you in this issue - a queer Irish punk overview from moi, a top 10 from the inimitable Captain Nemo and some absolutely incredible art from bruiseviolet.

Major thanks and credit to all the contributors and happy pride month to all of you out there in cyberspace!

REVIEWS!

Latter Days (C.Jay Cox, 2003)

An odd little film about the romance between a Mormon missionary serving in LA and his gay neighbour. In trying to be a rom-com and a serious drama at the same time, it ends up falling between two stools. Not a good film but weird enough to be enjoyable. Most baffling plot point: this film implies that psychic powers are real and you can get them by being HIV+. No, really.

Punk: 5/10 Pop: 5/10

Featherhood (Charlie Gilmour, 2020)

Moving and disturbing memoir by man (Charlie Gilmour) trying to make sense of his relationship with his absent father (Heathcote Williams) and raise a baby magpie (Benzene). I came to this book out of my interest in the much-mythologised life and work of Heathcote Williams and the book challenged my investment in the myth. Sharp, interesting, funny, sad, and it stayed on my mind long after I'd read it.

Punk: 5/10 (Derek Jarman mention, indirect Chumbawamba mention) Pop: 0/10 (a member of Pink Floyd appears several times in this book).

MAL'S TOP TEN: 1. THIS CORROSION - SISTERS OF MERCY 2. I FEEL LOVE - DONNA SUMMER 3. THE DANCING YEARS - THE RADIATORS 4. SAIL AND RAIL - SISSY 5. SMASH CLAUSE 28 - CHUMBAWAMBA 6. GIMME! GIMME! GIMME! - ABBA 7. THE BRIDE WORE WHITE - THE BLADES 8. IT'LL NEVER BE ME - ELECTRIC BANANA 9. CROPPY BOY - ANNE BYRNE 10. GUESS
